Still No Explanation

Britain Sends Apology For Frogman's Intrusion

Had No Permission Russians Assured

By EDDY GILMORE

LONDON (AP)—Britain has apologized to Russia for the mysterious exploits of a Royal Navy frogman who vanished while probing around a Soviet cruiser in British waters. The Russians had demanded an explanation.

But not much of the mystery—if any—was cleared away in the British government's expression of regrets.

The Moscow radio broke into a regular program Friday night to broadcast texts of a Russian protest and the British apology.

The British government declined all comment on the Moscow broadcast.

DISAPPEARED

Lt.-Cmdr. Lionel (Buster) Crabb disappeared April 19 in the icy waters of Portsmouth naval base near the Soviet cruiser that brought Russian leaders Nikolai Bulganin and Nikita Khrushchev to Britain on an official visit last month.

The admiralty has said officially it presumes Crabb is dead but has been mum otherwise. The British press has speculated the frogman was on a cloak-and-dagger mission. Soviet papers said he was spying.

LACKED PERMISSION

The British government in its note to Moscow expressed regrets but said the diver was working without government knowledge or permission.

The note said the diver was "to all appearances Lieutenant-Commander Crabb" but that "his presence in the vicinity of the (Soviet) destroyers occurred without any permission whatever."

The missing frogman drama blew up into front page banners in London's morning newspapers today. The exchange of notes was splashed across front pages.

"Frogman — Eden apologizes," said the independent Daily Express.

The incident has embarrassed the British government.

DEBATE SET

Under pressure from the opposition, the government has agreed to a debate on the question in the House of Commons Monday.

The Soviet note broadcast by Moscow was mild in tone. It said frogman episode and a British Admiral denied the possibility of a navy diver being near the warships.

Free Gold Coast Pledged by U.K.

LONDON (AP) — Britain Friday promised early independence to 4,500,000 Negroes of the Gold Coast, her pet colony jutting into the westward bulge of Africa.

The offer—carrying one condition—would set up the steaming, cocoa-producing territory as the Commonwealth's first sovereign negro state.

CONDITION OUTLINED

The condition was spelled out in the House of Commons by Colonial Secretary A.T. Lennox-Boyd:

"If a general election is held Her Majesty's government will be ready to accept a motion calling for independence within the Commonwealth passed by a reasonable majority in a newly-elected legislature, and then to declare a firm state for this purpose."

BOLD EXPERIMENT

Britain chose the happy-go-lucky Gold Coasters in 1951 for her boldest experiment in African home rule. The colony, where witchcraft and polygamy are widely practised, four years ago got an all-negro government under Premier Kwame Nkrumah responsible to an elected negro parliament.

Lennox-Boyd said Britain is insisting on a prior general election because major political groups have failed to agree on the final form of the Gold Coast's post-independence constitution. He added that the question of full Commonwealth membership must still be discussed with other countries in the British family of nations.

Birdie Bashed

VANCOUVER (CP)—Psychiatric examination was ordered Friday for a man charged with smashing a street photographer's $1,500 camera with an iron bar.

Camera operator Vernon Astleford, 42, told police the attack climaxed a three-year campaign of abuse against street photographers by the Vancouver man "whether we took his picture or not."

To Explain Letter

Drama Chief Gets Massey Summons

OTTAWA (BUP)—David J. Ongley, president of the Dominion Drama Festival, was summoned last night by Governor-General Vincent Massey to explain why he asked 3,000 leading Canadians to support the products of the festival's sponsor—Calvert Distillery.

Ongley said Friday at Sherbrooke, Que., where the festival will begin next week, that he would be on his way today for a meeting with the governor-general.

Ongley's troubles started Thursday when the United Church of Canada disclosed the contents of a letter sent to prominent Canadians, requesting that they give preference to the company's product.

The storm gathered as soon as the news became public and has intensified many times over, reaching into the House of Commons Friday afternoon when Stanley Knowles, (CCF-Winnipeg North Centre) called the matter to the attention of Prime Minister Louis St. Laurent.

He urged the prime minister to make it known that the festival "cannot use the name of the governor-general of Canada for sales promotion."

Asked for early establishment of the Canada Council so the drama festival would not have to rely on "this kind of support," Mr. St. Laurent said:

". . . If it were not found necessary for such arrangements to be made between the Dominion Drama Festival and private interests it might be much more desirable."

Tea with the Queen

HARRY TRUMAN

Former president Harry S. Truman sailing from New York Friday, for a seven-week tour of Europe, said: "I'm going to have dinner with the prime minister, lunch with Churchill and tea with the Queen," while in England. Oxford University will confer an honorary degree on him.

Town Living On Dog Food

ANCHORAGE, Alaska (AP)—Emergency food supplies were being flown Friday to the 150 natives in the southwestern Alaska village of Nondalton.

Reports to relief headquarters here said the natives had been relying on dog food the last few days.

Most of the able-bodied men were stricken with influenza and were unable to hunt or fish for their usual food supplies.

FLOOD AREA

It was the first emergency call from Nondalton during a week in which a series of flood emergencies have developed at other outlying villages because of barriers caused by ice jams in the thawing rivers.

Jack McFarland, a school teacher at Nondalton, reported the villagers were killing their dogs so they could have the dogs' rations for their families.

Fifty persons in the little village were reported ill with influenza. Medical supplies also were dropped there.

Doctors Ask Blood for Girl

ROCHESTER, Minn. (AP)—The Mayo Clinic said yesterday the faulty heart of Judy Maddison, 5, Turner Valley, Alta., could probably be mended, but they would want permission to give blood transfusion if necessary.

Her Jehovah's Witness parents have refused to go against the sect's teachings and permit a transfusion.

Britons Veer Left In Local Voting

LONDON (Reuters)—The Labor party Friday night counted a net gain of 264 seats in countrywide municipal elections, with some results still to come.

In a swing to the left more pronounced in the provinces than in London, Labor also captured control of a total of 12 councils throughout England and Wales—and lost it in seven others.

Voting on Thursday for the 513 borough councils in England and Wales and London's 29 metropolitan boroughs climaxed an annual local government turnover involving thousands of seats.

Biggest Labor shock was the loss of four seats to Communists in Stepney, East London. These were the Communists' only victories so far.

Several hundred urban and district councils do not vote until today. With these results outstanding, anti-socialists — labelled variously as Conservatives, Independents, Progressives or ratepayers representatives — still continue to control between two - thirds and three - quarters of the municipal governments of Britain.

Socialists Friday night admitted their successes were far from a landslide, but claimed they represented a wide expression of dissatisfaction with the Conservative policies.

'I Held Him And My Wife Wielded Axe'

VANCOUVER (CP)—Gordon Everts, 46, charged with attempted murder, was quoted in British Columbia Supreme Court Friday:

"I held him while my wife hit him with an axe. This is the first time my wife acted like a woman not a mouse when I asked her to do something."

Everts and his wife, Sarah, 43, are charger jointly with the attack on a nephew, Vernon F. Freakley. The victim suffered a cut arm.

Extends Hand to Germany

Forget the Past, Churchill Urges

BONN, Germany (UP)—Sir Winston Churchill appealed to Britain and Germany Friday to forget the past and become staunch friends.

The old warrior delivered this call to the bitter enemies of two world wars as leaders of the West German government joined to honor him.

Churchill's speech followed by 24 hours his appeal at Aachen for reconciliation between the West and the "new" post-Stalin Russia.

West German President Theodor Heuss, Chancellor Konrad Adenauer and other Bonn officials honored Churchill's first visit to this city with a luncheon at the presidential palace.

"I can see no reason why the relations between our two peoples should not be friendly because compared with the strength of the bonds of friendship the difficulties of daily life are so slight that they should be no serious obstacle," Churchill said.

He spoke extemporaneously in reply to an address of welcome by President Heuss. He said he was "deeply touched" by the tribute.

Heuss welcomed him as "one of the personalities who have made history of this epoch and with literary mastery also interpreted it."

The West German president told the former British prime minister, "we know by now that many a wrong political decision of the Allies during the Second World War was taken against your advice and in disregard of your warning."

Satchmo 'Drapes One' On the Duke of Kent

LONDON (UP) — American jazz king Louis "Satchmo" Armstrong played before a member of the Royal Family last night for the second time in three nights.

Wednesday night, Princess Margaret tapped her foot and rocked to the rhythm of the Negro trumpeter at London's big Empress hall. Last night it was her cousin, the Duke of Kent.

During intermission, the duke and his party went backstage and the duke shyly asked for Armstrong's autograph.

Later the trumpeter interrupted the concert to announce:

"Now we're gonna drape one on the Duke of Kent." The band struck up "Ain't Misbehavin'" and the duke slapped his knee with delight.

Irwin Raps Liquor Limits

VANCOUVER (CP)—Thomas Irwin, speaker of the British Columbia legislature, has criticized the provincial government's restrictions on the sale of liquor by the glass.

Speaking before the Richmond board of trade, Mr. Irwin said the standard required for licenses in restaurants was "far too high."

Chesnut's Cornucopia Spouts Cucumbers

M. V. Chesnut has "some pretty exciting news" for gardeners in his Sunday Garden Notes column, when he will announce a new free seed offer.

Ches says they will be cucumber seeds, "rare and terribly expensive, but what a cucumber!" You just sow them in the ground and get a super crop.

Full details of the offer will be given in the Sunday paper.

ALL ABOARD

With G. E. Mortimore

THERE are tough-minded citizens who arrange their own funerals in advance, to save trouble. We cowards prefer not to look so far ahead. We don't mind basking in the sunshine of this moment; and some of us can relax, puff a pipe and contemplate eternity.

It's the middle view that hurts. We guests in the world know that we will outstay our welcome and be compelled to leave, but the timid ones among us would rather dwell on pleasant things.

Like men sunk deep in comfortable chairs at the home of a friend, enjoying drinks and some pleasant conversation, all of us know we will have to go out into the darkness one time or another.

As for when and how, we're content to leave that to the host. He'll have to do more than yawn to send us on our way. We're not going until we're thrown out.

* * *

But there are people of strong moral fibre who prepare for their exit. Yesterday a man who looked good for at least 40 more years told me cheerfully that he had been down to the funeral home and made arrangements for his last public appearance.

He didn't think there was anything morbid about it. His motive was to leave all his affairs shipshape and shield his relations from undue worry.

I asked an undertaker whether many people did this. Oh, yes, he said. About 200 people had arranged their own funerals at his place alone. Some were as young as 30. Some of them insisted upon paying in advance. The firm preferred not to accept advance payment, because it meant setting up a trust fund, and some extra bookkeeping; but if the customer really wanted to deposit money, they let him.

* * *

"One gentleman paid in advance," the undertaker said. "Then he came back a year or two later and asked 'Can I have $50 on account?'

"I said, 'Well, I'm not running a bank, sir, but I'll be glad to let you have the money back.' He came back once again for another sum, and then he took it all out—he was getting married again.

"Another gentleman bought a nice mahogany casket in advance. After some time he was back again to have his money refunded. He had got married, too. His wife said she would rather have a piano than a casket."

'Burning Bush' Fine for Hedge

By M. V. CHESNUT, FRHS

Ten-Cent Hedge — (M.M.E., Port Alberni). The quick-growing hedge mentioned in this column last spring was Kochia or Burning Bush, and it is perfectly true that you can have a most attractive feathery green hedge from a 10-cent packet of Kochia seeds.

Kochia makes a very pretty and neat little bush rather like a feathery, bright green baby fir tree, and grows to about 2½ feet tall in six weeks from seed. You can clip it, if you wish, into any of the regular hedge shapes. Along about late August, the Kochia loses its bright green color and turns a brilliant red, hence its other name, Burning Bush.

It is an annual and must be started from seed afresh every spring. The seeds are best sown in single line, spacing the seeds six inches apart, later thinning the young plants to give each one 12 inches of elbow room.

These are not rare or difficult seeds which have to be imported from abroad. Kochia is listed in almost every seed catalogue, and it is more than likely that you'll find them in the seed rack at the corner store.

Wormy Currants — (J.H., Saanich). The trick of keeping your red and black currants and gooseberries too— free from those infuriating little worms which burrow into the fruit is to buy one of those cylindrical cardboard puffer guns filled with a good insecticide dust, and dust your currant bushes thoroughly. Give the first treatment just when the petals are falling from the blossoms, and another ten days later. This should give you nice, clean fruit.

Incidentially, black currants are extraordinarily rich in vitamin C, even more so than oranges, and they are one of the very few known sources of vitamin P, the stuff which keeps your small blood vessels in good operating condition.

Care of Cut Tulips—(L.D.G., Victoria). To make your cut tulips last longer in water, cut them early in the morning and plunge them right up to their necks in a bucket of cold water for six hours, keeping the bucket in the basement or some other cool place where there are no drafts.

If the stems are weak and floppy, bundle your tulips together and wrap the bundle of stems with household aluminum foil to hold them straight until they stiffen up in the water.

Bleeding Heart—(G. McD., Duncan). The best time to lift and divide your clumps of Bleeding Heart is in the late summer, around Labor Day, when the leaves are beginning to turn color. It is possible to move them in early spring, but you have to catch them just as they are starting into growth, but this is a miserable job as the soil is nearly always muddy and sodden when these early starters get going.

Lake Shippers Close Ranks, May Idle 280 Ships, 5,000 Men

MONTREAL (CP) — The seven-company Lake Carriers Association was reported Friday night to be effecting its pledge of a united front in a wage dispute with the Seafarers' International Union (AFL).

Waterfront sources said the five companies untouched by a strike begun Thursday against two association members have decided to tie up their vessels after they discharge cargo at their scheduled ports of destination.

The gradual paralysis, which would affect 280 vessels and some 5,000 men in all, if completed, would make idle the bulk of the Great Lakes fleet.

The association threatened Monday, after wage negotiations broke off with the SIU, that it would stand as a group against the union.

The union called a strike Thursday against N. M. Paterson and Sons Ltd., and Upper Lakes and St. Lawrence Transportation. Pledged to stand by them are Canada Steamline Lines, Hall Corporation of Canada, Mohawk Navigation, Beaconsfield Steamships and Colonial Steamships Ltd., which Friday tied up a vessel at Kingston, Ont.

Harbor authorities here disclosed that several CSL vessels which finished discharging cargo had returned to the harbor basin rather than steam up canal again.

Wholesome Cider Better Than Beer?

OTTAWA (CP)—A CCF Commons member from the apple-producing Okanagan valley of British Columbia suggested Friday the government revamp its excise tax regulations to enable easier marketing of apple cider.

Owen L. Jones, Okanagan Boundary, said that apple cider roughly eight per cent proof would be "a wholesome drink in competition with some of the beer that now is being sold."

Mr. Jones said during Commons study of agriculture department spending estimates that some apple growers have asked him to inquire whether the federal revenue and agriculture departments could get together and allow a low-grade alcoholic cider to be sold in grocery stores. This was done in California and New York.

About Souvenirs —Is It First Come...?

Next question: Are persons applying for permission to sell souvenirs on the Causeway to be treated on a first come, first served basis or on the merits of their proposals?

City council after much debate Thursday gave Charles Nelles & Company permission to sell flowers from a trailer on the west side of the Causeway during the summer, subject to cancellation at any time.

Because "there couldn't be a monopoly," it also set a policy that if the Nelles operation was found satisfactory, "no more than a total of three licences of this nature be issued in the future."

Council received a second application, from the Cosmopolitan Club, even before it had made its decision on the first. Yesterday morning the third application was made.

J. Gidden, who operates a shop at 813 Government, asked for a licence to sell tinned English candies on the Causeway.

He told city officials that if someone else received such a licence, his present business would suffer.

Ald. Robert Macmillan, in council debate, warned that the city could expect applications from "every business selling to the tourists," and half-jokingly said he would apply for a licence to sell Indian sweaters and miniature totem poles.

Yesterday he did go to the licence counter to make an application, but while he was there an idea for a new kind of souvenir crossed his mind and he left to give it further consideration.

Week's Jobless List Lowest Since War

There were 1,073 men unemployed in Victoria in the past week, lowest figure for this particular week since the end of the Second World War.

The number of women unemployed dropped by 133 to 698, which is still slightly above average.

Employment vacancies are occurring in "good number," said an official yesterday.

There is a particular need for graduate engineers and draftsmen, some classes of salesmen, sheet metal workers, boilermakers, painters and automobile mechanics.

There is an increase in the demand for domestic workers, stenographers and waitresses.

Cypriots Execute Soldiers

NICOSIA, Cyprus (Reuters) — The terrorist organization EOKA announced Friday it has executed two British Army corporals in retaliation for the hanging of two Greek Cypriots on Thursday.

British authorities admitted the two corporals have been missing from their camps for some time — but added it is still impossible to determine their fate.

EOKA leaflets distributed here in both Greek and English declared the terrorists would "answer hanging with hanging and torture with torture" until this British colony is granted self-determination.

During the afternoon a soldier shot down a running civilian in Nicosia's central Metaxas square. Eyewitnesses said the victim, a 34-year-old Greek Cypriot, may have been distributing the leaflets.

No Intention Of Election —Minister

WINNIPEG (BUP) — Public Works Minister George Prudham said in Winnipeg Friday that the government had no intention of calling a national election on the pipeline controversy now before the House of Commons.

Earlier, Prudham was quoted as saying that the government would "stand or fall" on getting its Trans-Canada Pipe Lines deal through.

OTTAWA (BUP)—Only the Mad Hatter could have conceived the fable of the Trans-Canada Pipe Line, George Nowlan (PC, Digby-Annapolis-Kings) said last night.

"Alas," he said on a CBC Canada-wide broadcast, "there is no happy ending to this fairy tale. It is a grim one!"

Nowlan blasted the government's resolution to lend Trans-Canada Pipe Lines up to $80,000,000 to build the western leg of the line.

He said Trade Minister Howe has had a delay before telling his cabinet colleagues of offers by two Canadian groups to build the line.

TORONTO (CP)—CCF leader M. J. Coldwell said Friday night there is no limit to the depths to which the federal government will stoop in yielding to the wishes of Trans-Canada Pipe Lines Ltd.

He said the latest proposal is "purely and simply a raid on the public treasury."

OTTAWA (CP)—Trade Minister Howe, under opposition sniping again Friday on the gas pipeline issue, sent a few gruff retorts back across the Commons floor.

He spoke about "smart boys in the front row opposite" and added:

"I wonder if citizens sending these gentlemen to the House are getting their money's worth."

'Tolerant, Kind' CBC Control Still Needed, Hearing Told

REGINA (CP) — Continued CBC control of radio and television is needed, the royal commission on broadcasting was told Friday.

A series of briefs from several Saskatchewan organizations upheld the principle of keeping up the present system as the commission staged a one-day stand in this Saskatchewan capital, then left for Vancouver. Hearings there open Monday.

A dissenting opinion on the CBC control idea came from Sid Boyling, manager of radio station CHAB in Moose Jaw, who appeared before the three-man commission as a member of the Saskatchewan arts board.

The government-appointed board itself made no specific recommendations on the controversial issue of an independent broadcast regulatory board atop the CBC and private stations, but Mr. Boyling said there should be one.

The system of having the CBC both operate outlets and regulate private stations creates an embarrassment for the government corporation, he said. The CBC had been "tolerant and kind" to private stations in its regulatory capacity, but a matter of principle was involved.

Worm-Digger Saves Baby

WORCESTER, Mass. (AP)— Four-year-old John Lande stopped digging worms long enough to stick a dirty hand down his baby sister's throat—and possibly save her life.

Mrs. Irving Lande said that while she was talking on the telephone her 19-month-old baby put a bottle cap in her mouth. It lodged in her throat.

The baby began turning blue, and Mrs. Lande yelled for someone to call an ambulance. Little Johnny put his hand down his sister's throat and came out with the bottle cap.

Family Sees Doreen Celebrate Birthday

Doreen Sanders blew out five candles on a fancy birthday cake, with a little help, while her brother and sister danced for joy behind a glass wall in St. Joseph's Hospital yesterday.

It was the first time that brother John, 6, and sister Cathy, 3, had seen their sister since she was hit by a car March 18, plunging her into unconsciousness for 46 days.

Hospital regulations prevented the other children from entering the ward. But, said Mrs. Frederick Sanders, 236 Cadillac: "They didn't mind . . . She waved at them . . . They were bubbling all over."

Later, at supper, the cake and ice cream were divided into 44 portions, for all the children in the hospital, including Doreen.

What did Doreen wish for?

Mrs. Sanders said: "I think if she could talk, she would tell us she'd like to get better and go out to play with the rest of the children."

Court Reserves Decision In Action Against Union

Judgment was reserved by Mr. Justice J. V. Clyne yesterday in a Supreme Court action by G. H. Wheaton Ltd. for damages against the Victoria carpenters' and piledrivers' unions and their business agents.

The firm also seeks a court declaration that it is "entitled to employ members of local 1598 (carpenters) in carpentry work on docks, ramps and approaches."

Defence counsel Louis Lindholm suggested to the court that settlement of a jurisdictional problem should be left to collective bargaining. He argued there was a duty to hire piledrivers, and no proof of increased costs in that event.

The action arose over re-decking of the CPR wharf here last March when G. H. Wheaton Ltd. assigned its carpenters, members of local 1598 in Victoria, to the job.

Carpenters' and piledrivers' locals claimed the work was within piledrivers' jurisdiction. A work stoppage resulted.

Counsel George Gregory, for the company, said evidence showed it would have cost $515 more employing piledrivers rather than carpenters and laborers.

He argued the work, by evidence, is general construction.

He was arrested in Vancouver and returned here on warrant for theft of a diamond wrist watch and diamond ring, valued at $800, stolen from Mrs. Rosina Hale, 1108 May.

In the same home, he stole $2,200 in bonds from Albert B. Norris.

All goods were recovered.

Separate the Ideas

IT is not surprising that the Memorial Arena manager, Mr. Joe Dukowski, should enter the all-purpose auditorium discussion. Any duplication of ice stadiums in the city would adversely affect the building that is his charge. His own plan, however, while protecting the interests of the arena, begs the real nature of the auditorium this community needs so badly. It continues the unfortunate emphasis on sport that has attached itself to this proposition.

Doubtless the expansion of the arena into a cluster of buildings tied in also with the curling rink—making provision for another ice rink and badminton and tennis facilities—would be a cosy collection that could be serviced and administered under one head. If the city wants such a centre well and good, but this kind of set-up has little relation whatsoever to an auditorium. It is high time the two ideas were separated.

An auditorium should properly be thought of in terms of a large concert hall, because of the acoustics and ancillary components that bespeak themselves. The present arena could be spruced up from now until doomsday and it would never be suitable for the presentation of musical, dramatic or complementary events. If it were it would have been used for that purpose long ago. Even as a convention hall the arena is a vast cold barn totally lacking in the facilities that are required. Preoccupation with sporting ventures should not be allowed to obscure this very visible fact.

It will be great pity if the various groups showing interest in the building of an auditorium do not get this aspect of the subject thoroughly into their heads. The example of the Spokane Coliseum—built for a different purpose—has caused confusion in many minds. Any attempt to combine the features of a sports centre with a civic auditorium centre would end only in a building that is neither one thing nor the other but instead a costly mistake the city would soon regret.

Too Much for One Minister

PREMIER BENNETT'S announcement that consideration is being given to re-assignment of cabinet portfolios will be understood in the province in the light of events at the close of the last session of the legislature. The resignation of Mr. Sommers as minister of lands and forests left a gap in cabinet ranks which has not since been filled. Instead Hon. Ray Williston has been carrying the heavy responsibilities of that ministry in addition to the equally weighty ones of his own department, education. Either office is enough for one minister to handle, especially at the present time, and the temporary duplication of duty should not be continued any longer than is absolutely necessary.

Besides this paramount consideration strong representations have been made to the government recently to create two new ministries: one to have jurisdiction over conservation, parks and recreation; the other over retail merchandising. Neither of these could be set up without the approval of the House in the form of an amendment to the Constitution Act, but the proposals need a good deal of study in advance of the next session.

Appointment of a minister able to give undivided attention to lands and forests, however, rests with the premier and could be made at any time. Whoever the new minister may be, he will require much time to familiarize himself with his duties in preparation for the next session. He will be taking over one—or rather two—of the most complex departments of the province; and to complicate a change-over the Sloan commission on forest management policy will probably present its report before the year is out. Responsibility for the preparation of new legislation which may be presented on the basis of the chief justice's report will certainly be a full-time occupation.

Inquiry Opportune

THE decision of the city council to seek tentative bids on a number of downtown properties owned by the corporation is an interesting move. It has been explained that the City has no immediate intention of selling any of these properties, but is curious to learn what the going market value might be if it should later decide to take that step. The direct means is to ask, and that can readily be done by the expedient of calling for tenders on the understanding that no bid need be taken up.

The danger, of course, is that bids might be forthcoming in much the same offhand spirit—a declaration of willingness to buy at absurdly low valuations. As against that, however, the City might turn up some firm offers which would be helpful as a guide to values and also with reference to action if later the electors decided to proceed with a major civic development.

Of the five parcels mentioned in the resolution, the Pandora Avenue site at present in other hands, is only conditionally within the City's reach by virtue of a repurchase clause in the contract. The city hall, police station, main fireball, market building and some vacant ground nearby are all directly city-owned. Together they constitute an important section of the business area. The quickest test of their value is to see what willing buyers might offer in open competition for the several properties. That knowledge would be useful.

Island Editors Say

Where Need is Greatest

Premier Bennett's proposal to lighten the burden of municipal taxes on homes is another example of the fresh and audacious approach to provincial responsibilities which has characterized his government's period in office. It is doubtful if any provincial government in the past had the same happy facility for capturing the imagination of the public in such an arresting and stimulating fashion.

Mr Bennett's proposal would apply in much the same way as personal income tax, recognizing that ability to pay is an important factor by giving all home owners a basic exemption. By making it a flat exemption rather than a percentage, the relative saving will be the greatest in the low assessment brackets, the brackets where the need for tax relief is greatest.

Sidney's Clean-up Week

Sidney's village commission has shown sound judgment in providing leadership for a clean-up week in the municipality from May 14 to 18. The village will furnish three trucks which will tour the entire community collecting rubbish of all kinds. The result will unquestionably be a much neater looking village.

Co-operation of the public is now needed to make the project an unqualified success. No stone should be left unturned to clean up the entire village and make it more presentable for our summer visitors. Sidney is undergoing a real face-lifting and the village's clean-up week is another important factor in this program.

Splendid Record

All divisions of MacMillan & Bloedel Limited are to be congratulated on the magnificent safety record established in the year 1955. To win three top awards not only denotes an outstanding effort on the part of all concerned but also demonstrates what can be accomplished when management and personnel work as one team. At the higher echelon there was careful planning. This planning was carried into the field, and the workers became imbued with the knowledge that accidents can be prevented.

Service Under Difficulties

A Victoria real estate man, who for many years has had property in this district, was unable to get attention at the government office in Duncan. He wanted the assessor. That official had recently been moved to New Westminster. A replacement had not arrived. He then wanted the assistant assessor. The same circumstance. The assistant had been sent to the central interior for the summer on special assignment. A stenographer might help perhaps? Unfortunately the stenographer had only just left her employment. She was no longer there.

Does this situation apply elsewhere? If it does something should be done to recruit more help as speedily as possible. Public business is everybody's business and the public will suffer if it neglects the staffing of its own offices.

Queer Omission

What possessed the telephone company to leave Campbell River out of the Courtenay directory and yet include Cobble Hill and Duncan we cannot imagine, but the omission is one which will prove most inconvenient for a good many local people, to say nothing of the trouble the "information" operators will be given.

Surely that company knows enough to realize that a great deal of business is done between the two up-Island centres to warrant inclusion of both towns in both directories.

Helping Themselves

Large companies are constantly solicited for donations to worthy causes and one of the first questions they ask before making a decision on such a request is: "Are they doing anything to help themselves?"

By this standard, the Kinsmen Society of Campbell River deserves the best that all of us can give in its forthcoming drive for funds to complete the community hall. The hall as it stands now is largely the work of a few devoted men who have sacrificed much of their free time to provide the district with a central gathering place.

By the Way

Gerald Waring

By FRANK KELLEY

ONE wonders why it happens occasionally that there should be any marked deviations in the climatic patterns the dispenser of the weather presents seasonally for all areas of this old world. True, it does not seem there is any studied intent to change, from season to season anyway, the amount of rain that will be spilled from overcast skies or the length of time the sun will shine continuously on any spot, favored or otherwise. At that, it does look as though, while not intentionally aiming at record-making, the Master of the weather nods at times and gives the average mortal something to think, and talk, about.

Witness what has been said regarding the most recent period of dry weather we have been experiencing on Vancouver Island, as well as the problems those rainless days presented. Whether overdone or not is something else again; yet everyone conversant with the habits of our climate should be able to tell if what happens weatherwise does, or does not, maintain an average of climatic changes for any group of years. An old friend asked me this poser as the result of 29 days without any rain showers.

As I remember it myself during the years spent on Vancouver Island, I am inclined to the belief that every so often the weather is sorted out a bit differently, giving us some variety and any of us the privilege to go along with the philosophy of the late Missouri poet, James Whitcomb Riley, who, if memory plays fair, expressed himself as follows:- "Oh, what's the use of grumbling and complaining? It's always better to be happy and rejoice. When God sorts out the weather and sends rain —well, rain's my choice."

* * *

In my memory the weather hereabouts at extended periods over the past 60 years has run pretty well to form with no startling differences in the actual amount of sunshine and rain that shone or fell on the just and unjust alike in this vicinity; but there could have been less rain and more snow falling in its stead at one time; for 60-odd years ago there were five livery stables in Victoria where the local beaux, so-inclined, could hire themselves horses and sleighs for a sunny afternoon outing with their best girls. Sleighing was good for weeks at a stretch.

At the same time one can also remember hearing some of Victoria's pioneer sawmill operators prophesying that the day would come when Vancouver Island, due to the demand the world would be making for its forest growth, could hardly hope to be perenially blest with the evergreen cover it presented to the pioneering white man. Due to his needs the scene would change greatly before he would call it a day and be satisfied.

We saw the way pioneer lumbermen selected their trees for cutting and protected younger growth; how competition introduced methods of harvesting logs that left the land desolate, as it became obvious to the more thoughtful reapers of timber it would be only a question of time when there would be no more forests to attract rain from the heavens or moisture from the sea-fog to provide life for green timber. And although he crops the forest annually the thoughtful reaper is endeavoring to replace what he takes with young trees in his effort to produce a "sustained yield" indefinitely. That would be a splendid future.

And yet a forestry expert, according to the press, stated in a logging convention here recently that the whole concept of "sustained yield" is nothing better than theory and wishful thinking. Although Mr. T. S. Goodyear gave good reasons for his pessimistic outlook, let us hope he may be wrong.

Reports from Ottawa

PREMIER Duplessis' warning to federal Liberals to stay out of the Quebec election campaign has the ring of those "Yankee go home" cries which greet the Americans in many parts of the world.

It's also having the same effect.

Thus in spite of M. Duplessis' advice, more French-Canadian Liberals in the Commons are risking their $10,000-a-year jobs by coming out openly against the Union Nationale than has been the case in recent elections. The element of risk is the danger that Duplessis may unleash his organization to defeat them in the federal election next year.

Even Resources Minister Lesage, who sat out the last Quebec election (he made one brief, unnanounced speech), has pitched into the fight in what amounts to a challenge to Duplessis to do his worst in 1957. And on April 28 the Quebec Liberal leader, Georges Lapalme, addressed a party banquet in Quebec City at which there were four federal cabinet ministers, the wife and son of Prime Minister St. Laurent, 15 Quebec senators and a large number of Quebec Liberal MPs.

* * *

Lapalme has never before had such support from his former colleagues in the House of Commons. In other elections fence-sitters among them weakened his appeal to the voters by negotiating unofficial truces with the Duplessis party.

"While it's by no means certain that all the fence-sitters will leap in, the most conspicuous among them in 1952 no longer affront Lapalme and his party. Postmaster-General Cote is dead. Lesage has swung over and Jean-Francois Pouliot has gone to the Senate. Pouliot's successor as Liberal MP for Temiscouata is Jean-Paul St. Laurent, the MP's son, who isn't afraid of Duplessis.

One thing responsible for the more generous support Lapalme is getting is the St. Laurent government's new tax-sharing plan. It treats Quebec just like other provinces, and leaves Quebec Liberal MPs less vulnerable to Union Nationale charges that Ottawa discriminates against Quebec and threatens French-Canadian rights. Another factor likely is realization that after St. Laurent retires Quebec MPs will need all the help they can get at election time, including the support of a strong provincial Liberal party.

Election day is June 20—a Wednesday, naturally, for Duplessis always initiates personally important projects on the day of St. Joseph. Even his press conferences used to be held on Wednesdays. However, weekend newspaper circulation being greater than in mid-week, they are now held on Fridays.

The campaign is just warming up, with Lapalme attacking the government on its record, and Duplessis seeking to link Lapalme with the alleged sins of the Liberal leader's "friends in Ottawa." Thus a Union Nationale ad last week said "Mr. Lapalme should be the last to speak of unemployment in Quebec . . . knowing that there are 76,000 unemployed and that this number corresponds 'strangely' with 78,000 immigrants who have come to settle in Quebec in the last 10 years."

The Duplessis party also denounces Lapalme's federal friends for giving money to "strangers" through the Colombo Plan. But Lapalme can answer in kind: that Duplessis should be the last to talk, having refused some $300,000,000 of Ottawa's money in the last 10 years.

The Packsack

Dependence on Water

Of GREGORY CLARK

UP UNTIL quite recent years—within the lifetime of most of us—life consisted of pot luck for the human race. We took from life what we could, and asked no questions.

But science has lately started asking questions high, wide and handsome. Everything a scientist looks at today is in the shape of a question mark. The beggars are insatiable.

They have got things down so fine that they will take a single little plant, say a single cotton plant, and patiently and precisely measure how much water that infant plant absorbs in the process of growing to a mature plant, ready to be plucked.

Thus they are able to inform us, by multiplying that figure by the number of cotton plants in an acre, that to grow one acre of cotton requires 800,000 gallons of water.

Even in time of flood and fears of flood like the present we find it a little hard to envisage 800,000 gallons of water, not in an acre but in a large pond. Yet, out of the air, in rain, dew and mere humidity, and out of the earth, 800,000 gallons appears to be the amount of water an acre of cotton sucks up and transmits back into the air in the course of one growing season.

By measuring the inhalation and exhalation of trees, the scientists can tell us how many tons—not quarts or gallons, but tons—of water an elm tree sucks up and breathes out into the air per week. From the top of a forest thousands of tons of water are fed back every hour of day and night as invisible moisture into the waiting air.

In a recent publication the Wildlife Management Institute of the United States, in attempting to rouse all of us, and not farmers only, to the facts of our utter dependence upon water, departs from fields and forests, and uses some figures supplied by the scientists of industry. A large paper mill requires 50,000,000 gallons of water a day—enough to supply the personal needs of a city of half a million.

It takes 18 barrels of water to produce one barrel of oil; 25 gallons of water to produce one gallon of aviation gasoline; 250 tons of water to make one ton of steel.

There appears to be quite a lot of water in the world, except in places where there isn't enough! And those places are increasing in number very briskly.

Little Scope For Padding

By ORMOND MARRION

A FEW people have asked a question in the past two or three weeks that probably is resting unuttered in the minds of many more:

Do city department heads pad their preliminary estimates to offset the almost inevitable cutting by the aldermen?

From close observation, the answer is definitely no.

* * *

In the first place, their estimates have to go to a comptroller who guards the city's money zealously. The comptroller, keeping a constant cost accountant's watch on expenditures, is in a position to spot a padded estimate in a minute.

Then the estimates go to the council committee directly concerned with the department, and the department head faces a whole battery of cost-conscious inquirers—the city manager, the comptroller, and three wide-awake aldermen who want every item explained to them.

At this stage, a department head sometimes says that a particular item is something that is very desirable, but that it could be deferred if absolutely necessary for another year.

That's about as close as the department heads come to padding their estimates. Acute embarrassment would be the almost certain result of trying to slip in a few hundred extra dollars here and there.

The item-by-item examination of estimates does not end, of course, at the standing-committee level. The estimates go on to council as a committee of the whole, and again department heads are often called upon to explain just why the estimate for so-and-so is $7,010 this year when it was only $6,780 last year.

* * *

BECAUSE of changes in the bases of government grants and education-cost sharing, trying to compare city budgets of the last few years is more or less like trying to compare six oranges with two watermelons.

But the provisional budgets from 1952 to this year do provide an interesting picture of changing costs. They bear out Ald Dowell's claim that public works estimates have sunk while those of other departments have risen. (Health and hospital care costs are an exception, having stayed almost constant at about $191,000.)

Provisional public works total in 1952 was $822,000; in 1953, $824,000; in 1954, $467,000, and in 1955, $446,000. This year the estimates climbed back up to $521,000.

* * *

The city's recreation estimates (including such categories as parks, boulevards and the public library) grew almost steadily in the same period from $441,000 to this year's $539,000.

Protective services, with the police and fire departments making up most of the totals, went from $1,106,000 in 1952 down to $1,040,000 in 1953, then climbed steadily back up to this year's $1,162,000.

Social welfare estimates, $515,000 in 1952, went as low as $478,000 in 1953 and as high as $640,000 in 1955, and this year were $603,000.

Sanitation and waste removal, including garbage and sewers, sank from $398,000 in 1952 to $352,000 in 1955, but rebounded to $449,000 this year with higher labor costs and the beginning of a systematic sewer renewal plan.

* * *

Through the five years, estimated taxation revenue grew and its growth accelerated. In 1952 it was $3,355,000. In 1953 it was $3,379,000, up $24,000. In 1954 it was $3,423,000, up $44,000. In 1955 it was $3,512,000, up $89,000. This year it was $3,800,000, up $288,000.

The bases of education cost-sharing and government grants, as noted, changed considerably in the five years. The remarkable thing about both education costs and grants is that they followed such similar patterns.

In 1952 the grant estimates totalled $1,041,000 and education costs $1,252,000. In 1953 grants were $505,000 and education costs $785,000.

In 1954 grants were $1,311,000 and education $1,569,000. Last year, with a federal grant included, grants were $914,000 and education $1,086,000, and this year the figures were $1,658,000 and $1,227,000.

Exceeding sorrow
Consumeth my sad heart!
Because tomorrow
We must depart,
Now is exceeding sorrow
All my part!

Be no word spoken;
Weep nothing: let a pale
Silence, unbroken
Silence prevail!
Prithee, be no word spoken
Lest I fail!

Forget tomorrow!
Weep nothing: only lay
In silent sorrow
Thine head my way:
Let us forget tomorrow,
This one day!

Tea and Crumpets

The plans of the Victoria Chamber of Commerce to make a goodwill tour dressed as characters from a Norris cartoon have been public knowledge for some time, yet I notice that you and your staff have waited until the participants were safely on their way before starting to snipe at them verbally and sneer at their efforts.

It seems to me that this is not only a sneaky thing to do, but downright cowardly. The attitude that you have seen fit to assume can have no constructive effect.

Whether such a tour is a good idea or not is another question entirely, but as long as cartoonists and columnists in Vancouver and elsewhere delight in portraying us as existing almost entirely on tea and crumpets, I can't see what earthly good it can do for us to insist that we are "as Canadian a city as any other in the country."

In fact, lampooning our city as a leftover from the Edwardian era is the one way to make the rest of Canada realize that such reports about it are exaggerated, but that at least we have enough humor to enjoy the nonsense too.

The Cost Comes High

With all the talk, pro and con, about fluoridation, it seems extraordinary that the financial angle has received little or no attention.

When it is considered that with all the thousand uses to which our water is put, less than 1% is consumed by humans; and when we note the very small proportion of the population which is supposed to benefit the percentage is cut considerably lower and it should not be difficult to calculate what each glass of treated water, consumed by the children in the supposedly benefited class, would cost undoubtedly very, very many times more than the one cent or so that would be the case if treated individually in the homes, which would achieve the same results and in addition obviate the objectionable features.

I have not got the cost figures for fluoridating the whole water system, but it is safe to assume that it would be high and it only requires one guess as to who pays the bill.

I am quite unaware that "economy" is a word that is not used in polite society today, but history has a habit of repeating itself and the handwriting is already on the wall.

Hot Weather Forecast Depresses Foresters

Disappointed forestry officials were told yesteday there was no sign of a break in the hot weather which has turned coastal forests into a potential tinderbox.

There have been 205 fires in the district, which covers all of Vancouver Island and the coastal area, during the past 11 days, compared to 139 outbreaks in 1951—the most official fire season opened May 1 has started the Vancouver forest district well on the way toward a record year.

At this point last year only eight fires had been reported.

A further six fires were reported yesterday while the province-wide total this year is 315 compared with 56 last year and 215 in 1951.

Cost of fighting the fires this year is $7,342 compared with $814 in 1955 and $15,000 in 1951.

However these figures are not an accurate estimate of the actual cost of the fires as they do not include the wages paid to company men but only forestry department personnel.

The 200 men who fought the huge blaze at Youbou, for instance were company men. The cost of employing them is not shown on the figures released by the department.

High hazard conditions remain in the Vancouver district with moderate to low hazard conditions elsewhere in the province.

Chetwynd Says:

PGE Will Roll June 11

Railways Minister Ralph Chetwynd yesterday stood by his prediction and said the first PGE train would roll over the rails between Squamish and North Vancouver on schedule, June 11.

For several months now Mr. Chetwynd has been predicting that the first train would arrive at North Vancouver at 4.15 p.m. June 11.

"It might be 4.16 instead of 4.15 because of forest fires," said the minister, adding that the train would be a work train and carry no passengers.

He was commenting on statements by Ald. Bill Angus of North Vancouver who said the [illegible] tion on schedule.

One-Day Layoff For CPR Ferry

VANCOUVER (CP)—Because of damage to one of her two propellers, the Canadian Pacific's Princess of Nanaimo will enter Burrard Drydock at North Vancouver May 14, the CPR announced Thursday.

The ship will resume regular service the following day with the 8 a.m. sailing from Vancouver to Nanaimo.

Propeller contact with a floating sunken log is believed to have caused the damage.

RCAF Plans Foolproof Parachutes

OTTAWA (CP)—Air Marshal C. R. Slemon, chief of the air staff, said Thursday night the air force is developing a parachute that will open automatically at 10,000 feet.

The RCAF's CF-100 jet fighters are effective at about 40,000 feet—30,000 feet higher than recommended bailing-out altitude. Their crew members now must wait until they drop to 10,000 feet before pulling the rip-cord.

The keynote to good dressing is still simplicity. If you wear earrings and bracelet, leave the necklace at home.

Cherry Bank Petition Waits Mayor's Return

Because of Mayor Percy Scurrah's absence, a petition on the zoning of the Cherry Bank Hotel was not presented as scheduled Thursday to city council.

A. DeB. McPhillips, a city lawyer, had been scheduled to present the petition and a brief.

At noon, however, he said Acting Mayor W. F. Pinfold had been informed that Mayor Scurrah wanted to be present when the petition was presented. The mayor is on the Chamber of Commerce goodwill tour of the Prairies.

The petition carries more than 300 signatures of business men and Mr. McPhillips said there "undoubtedly will be more" when it is presented at the next council meeting.

Two Liners Bring Immigrant Cargo

MONTREAL (CP)—Two ocean liners, the Seven Seas and the Saxonia, arrived here Thursday carrying a total of some 1,900 passengers, most of them British and German immigrants. The Seven Seas, owned by the Europe Canada Line, sailed from Bremerhaven with about 800 immigrants while the Saxonia, owned by the Cunard Steamship Line, sailed from Liverpool.

Charges Bonner's Business

Attorney-General Robert Bonner said yesterday it was the responsibility of his department to decide if charges are to be laid against three men who held an Oakalla prison guard hostage for six hours Monday.

He said he had ordered a complete report into the incident and that if the report contained any recommendations to prevent such happenings from occurring again "they will be announced."

"Whenever any untoward incident occurs a full report is made to the department on it," said Mr. Bonner who returned yesterday from a highway safety conference in Winnipeg.

He was commenting on the case of three men who held a razor to the throat of guard Ernie Loveless for six hours in an effort to have their cases reviewed.

Champions Crowned in High School Track Meets

Connie Sampson and Tom English, who won junior individual championships in the annual Victoria High school track and field meet last year, captured senior titles as this year's meet wound up at the school yesterday afternoon. Jacquee Wright finished with three victories and a third-place finish to take the junior girls' crown, and Rick Kelsall, who set records in the shot put and discus throw, won the junior boys' individual championship. The champions, pictured left to right, are English, Miss Sampson, Miss Wright and Kelsall.—(Colonist photo by Jim Ryan.)

House I nosed out House IV by four and one-half points in a thrilling battle for the team championship, which wasn't decided until yesterday's final race in the annual Esquimalt High school track and field meet. Serge Gibson picked up five victories and a third to capture the senior boys' individual crown. Jennifer Savage, who placed first in four events, took the senior girls' title, and Marlene Barratt won the junior girls' championship. Darrel MacIntyre, who set a high jump record, collected the junior boys' crown. Pictured, left to right, are Miss Savage, Miss Barratt and MacIntyre.—(Colonist photo by Bud Kinsman.)

Grand-Slam Homer In Ninth Wins One For Troublemakers

Almost unanimously consigned to the basement in pre-season ratings, Pittsburgh Pirates are proving a tough handful for other National League clubs. The Bucs are only 9-10 for the season and are in fifth place, four games out of the lead, but they've been a team which hasn't often been beaten until the last man is out.

Five of the Pirate setbacks have been by one run and four wins have been scored by the same margin, usually with a late rally.

Yesterday was a good example. Trailing, 2-5, going into the ninth inning, the Pirates got the bags loaded with two singles and a walk. Up stepped rookie-catcher Danny Kravitz to hit his first major-league home run for a 6-5 victory over Philadelphia Phils.

It was the first time in 10 innings that a team had scored on Jack Meyer, ace Philly relief pitcher.

Back in friendly Ebbetts Field, Brooklyn Dodgers stayed a game ahead of the Pirates by trouncing New York Giants, 8-4. In the other National League game, Milwaukee Braves finally got back into action after a string of rained-out games and edged Cincinnati Redlegs, 10-9.

In the American League, both the leading New York Yankees and the second-place Cleveland Indians won.

MAKE HITS COUNT

The Yanks got only five hits off Ery Palica but squeezed by Baltimore Orioles, 3-2, when pinch-hitter Bill Skowron singled in the winning run in the ninth inning. Whitey Ford started, finished and won his fifth game but had to be good in the clutches as he gave up 12 hits.

Cleveland got an early lead and was ahead, 4-1, against Kansas City when rain stopped the game after five innings.

Bob Chakales' runless relief-pitching over the last six innings enabled Washington to defeat Boston, 4-3.

One Record Set as House IV Captures Victoria High Title

House IV, which finished a poor fourth last year, won the annual Victoria High school inter-house track and field meet yesterday after a close battle with defending champion House II.

House IV had a total of 171½ points. House II finished with 162 and three-quarter points. House III came third with 116 and one-quarter points, and House I finished last with 106 points.

Connie Sampson and Tommy English, winners of the junior aggregate championships last year, stepped into senior competition this year and once again walked off with top honors.

Only one track record fell during yesterday's events as a heavy wind hampered the runners. Joe Haegert, whose fine running career was stopped temporarily last year when he suffered a broken leg, chopped seven-tenths of a second off the senior boys' 440-yard mark, covering the distance in 52.7 seconds.

TOP POINT SCORE

Jacquee Wright, junior girls' aggregate champion, was the top-point getter for the girls, placing first in the 100 and 60-yard dashes, broad jump and softball throw, and finishing third in the discus.

Rick Kelsall, who set records in the discus and shot put, and placed first in the 220-yard dash, was named junior boys champion.

Serge Gibson, one of Esquimalt High school's brightest hopes for next week's inter-high school meet, took individual honors and won the senior aggregate championship yesterday as the school held its annual inter-house track and field competition.

Gibson collected a total of 28 points on five firsts and a third in the senior events. He placed first in the broad jump, shot put, 100 and 220-yard dashes, and his specialty, the hop step and jump.

CLOSE BATTLE

Marlene Barratt won the junior girls' championship. Darrel Macintyre won the junior boys' title, and Jennifer Savage was named senior girls' champion.

Miss Savage placed first in the broad jump, high jump, 100-yard and 60-yard dashes. McIntyre collected first in the high jump, broad jump and 440, setting a record in the high jump.

Out of Action

GEORDIE JOHNSTON

Victoria Shamrocks' Inter-City Lacrosse League fortunes sagged a bit more early yesterday morning when goalie Geordie Johnston underwent an operation for a perforated ulcer. Johnston, a standout as the Rocks won their first two games this season, is expected to be out of action until at least late in the season and will be replaced by spare goalie Don Hamilton.

Speaking Briefly

Leonard Ties Finsterwald With Fine 67 at St. Louis

Stan Leonard, former Vancouver pro now playing out of Lachute, Quebec, yesterday gained a tie for the lead in the $25,000 Carling Open at St. Louis by shooting a five-under-par 67. That gave Leonard a 36-hole total of 136, the same as Dow Finsterwald, the first-day leader, who came in yesterday with a 71.

Bud Holscher, Bill Caspar and George Bayer, golf's longest hitter, shared third place with 138s and Ed Furgol and Billy Maxwell followed with 139s.

Leonard had a bogey on the front nine along with two birdies, then clipped four strokes off par on the back nine with four birdies and five pars.

* * *

At White Sulphur Springs, West Virginia, Sammy Snead dropped back in the Greenbrier Open as Jack Isaacs and Mike Fetchik took over as co-leaders, three strokes ahead of Snead. Porky Oliver and Vic Ghezzi.

Snead used up 38 putts and finally came in with a 71 for a 36-hole total of 136. In the meantime, Isaacs carded a 66 and Fetchik came up with a 67 to make their two-day totals 133. Ghezzi and Oliver both added 67s to opening-round 69s to pull even with Snead.

Isaacs' round was regarded as one of the best ever played in the tournament. A 39-year-old pro from Langley Air Force Base, Isaacs had a number of birdie putts rim the cup and stay out. He had 14 pars and four birdies.

Soggy Wicket Befuddles Aussie Cricket Tourists

BRADFORD, Eng. (AP) — Australia's cricket touristis had their first tussle Friday with a typically rain-soaked English wicket and came off second best with a score of 94 all out.

Johnny Wardle and Bob Appleyard, Yorkshire spin bowlers who both are candidates for England's Test side, had balls dancing off the sodden surface here at all sorts of crazy angles.

Australian batsmen groped desperately to connect with scant success.

Five of the touring side walked back to the pavilion without a single run between them.

Only a determined stand by Benaud and Davidson saved the Australians from complete humiliation.

The score: Yorkshire 129 for 9 wickets declared (A. K. Davidson 7 for 39) and 19 for 1 wicket. Australians 94 (J. H. Wardle 5 for 27, R. Appleyard 4 for 44). Match drawn.

A six-run first inning followed by strikeout pitching last night kept Los Angeles Angels atop the Coast Baseball League standings.

The Angels protected their lead with effective clutch pitching to win, 6-5, over San Francisco Seals. Rookie Dick Drott struck out 14 Seals before leaving in the seventh inning. Relief-pitchers Chick Pieretti and Bob Anderson whiffed five more for a total of 19 strikeouts.

Vancouver's tough-luck Mounties lost another one-run decision when Hollywood Stars scored once in the eighth and three times in the ninth inning for a 5-4 win. Portland bested Seattle and Sacramento nipped San Diego in other games.

Unique Fairway Frolic . . . . . Attracts Limit Entry

Fun Comes First in Bourbon Open

By KYLE VANCE

BARDSTOWN, Ky. (AP)—It really doesn't make much difference who wins the Bourbon Open golf tournament.

Fun comes first and golf is second in this unique fairway frolic which has its 11th renewal today and Sunday.

It's a fact, say the sponsors, that some so-called golfers pay their entry fee and stay in the clubhouse.

For those who wish to play, a half-pint of sour-mash bourbon is collected on the first tee. For those who wish to get serious about playing, large quantities of bourbon and some country hams are offered as prizes.

Bardstown is a seat of the sour mash industry.

The Bourbon Open was dreamed up during the war years when 100-proof whisky was almost impossible to find. By offering such valuable prizes, the tourney got off, naturally, to a flying start.

Even after 100-proof bourbon became plentiful again, the tourney continued to attract entries. This year's field adds up to 268, the absolute maximum.

The Kentucky Open, being played off this weekend at nearby Lexington, drew only 100.

It would be an exaggeration to picture the Bourbon Open as a drunken spree. Those who start usually finish its 18 holes of medal play.

There are appropriate prizes for those who finish with the highest scores.

And par usually gets a good going over. Scores as low as 68 and 69 have been needed to win some past opens.

Dances, dinners and private parties guarantee that each entry gets his money's worth in fun, even if he doesn't lift a putter.

District League Stars Rally in Second Half To Draw with United

Victoria and District Football League All-Stars played to a 2-2 draw with Victoria United last night at Royal Athletic park as the two clubs started the best-of-three series for the Robbins Memorial Trophy.

Date of the second match has not yet been announced but it is hoped that it will be played next week. United opens play in the Pacific Coast Summer Soccer League on Friday, May 25.

United had an edge in the first half and took the lead with goals only a minute apart in early action. Both goals were scored by centre forward Bill Abbott, who booted the ball in after accepting crosses from rightwinger Ced Robb. The first goal came at 12 minutes and the second followed on the next United rush.

They were the fourth and fifth goals for Abbott, who has been taking over from injured Tommy Druce, in two matches. The youngster scored three against Heaneys in the Jackson Cup final. In the same game Robb had a goal and set up five others.

All-Stars had a bit of an edge in the second half and with veteran Len Scott making the play in each case, tied it up on goals by Tim Walker and Charlie Constable. Bob Clarke was also in on the first goal. The tying kick came with only five minutes left. No overtime was played.

District All-Stars—Archie McMillan; Alex Ross, Alex Blair, Harry Carruthers, Ken Hill, Bill McMillan, Len Scott, Bob Clarke, Charlie Constable, Tim Walker, Nelson Crisp.

United—Pete Winters, Bill Hoge, John Pickburn, Herold Holroyd, Joe Robbins, Charlie Mills, Ced Robb, Cec Harrison, Bill Abbott, George Wright, Ken

Wall Street Resists Downtrend

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market built up strong resistance to a decline Friday and managed to close with a steady tone.

Prices were mixed over a range of around 2 points either way with most major divisions showing a wide mixture of gains and losses.

Thursday's market suffered one of the year's greatest drops, and the decline continued Friday at the opening. Overnight orders were to sell, and buyers took in the offerings at reduced prices.

Timid holders soon disposed of their stock, however, and prices began to mount as resistance to selling increased. In the late afternoon the market was slightly higher on balance, but final selling pit prices back below their best.

General Motors was the day's most active issue off ⅜ at 43¾ on 62,300 shares. The company's announcement of production cuts triggered selling in Thursday's market. The stock opened Friday on 19,000 shares at 43¼.

Export Gas Jumps

TORONTO (CP)—A moderately brighter note marked stock market dealings Friday after Thursday's decisive reverse. Selected issues in all divisions attracted buyers, particularly in the final hour of trading. Industrials gained up to $4.62. Senior mines were sluggish but many medium-priced issues had sizeable gains. Western oils were mixed.

Business slackened toward the close despite the upward trend and the volume of 6,631,000 shares was about 300,000 below Thursday's.

Steels turned up most of the industrial features as Canadian Vickers climbed $4.62 to a high of $15.12. Algoma regained $4 of Thursday's $5 loss and Stelco advanced $3 to $74.

Steels Recover

MONTREAL (CP) — Industrial prices were mixed at the close of moderately active trading Friday on the Montreal and Canadian exchanges. Some firm spots were evident.

Steels recovered some of Thursday's lost ground. Algoma climbed three points, Stelco 2¼ and Dosco ½ in active dealings. Aluminium and Hudson Bay added a point each in the base metals but Consolidated Smelters slipped ¾.

Imperial dropped a point, McColl ⅝ and BA ½ in a lower refining oil group. Trans Mountain advanced a point in the pipelines.

B.C. Stocks Dull

VANCOUVER — Pacific Pete at $17⅛ and Inland Natural Gas at 5.85 gave some strength to the gas stocks, while Quatsino at 85 cents was a feature among mining issues.

Generally, however, trading was dull with most business done at lower levels. Capital Estates weakened to $5 and Triad to $8½.

Coppers were steady but dull.

London Depressed

LONDON (Reuters)—The stock market was generally depressed on news of the widening United Kingdom trade gap and the overnight setback on Wall street. Buyers held off and profit taking took place in recent favorites.

British funds lost ground and the losses extended to ¾. In rails, Canadian Pacific was dull. Among miscellaneous leaders, Hudson's Bay, British Aluminium, Unilever, Borax and Turner and Newall were all lower.

Gold shares were easier in small trading.

Grain Prices

WINNIPEG (CP)—Prices were firm to higher at the close on the Winnipeg grain exchange, reflecting advances on United States markets, and unfavorable seeding operations on parts of the Prairies due to rain.

Trading was dull as the market continued to be affected by the seamen's strike. Traders were hesitant to make commitments.

A few shipper orders showed in oats and barley. Some exporter and processor buying in barley was on a deferred basis. Parcel lots of flax were sold to Japan for deferred shipment.

Rye trade was local. Overnight export loadings of Canadian wheat included: Japan 700,000 bushels, Poland 340,000, Belgium 265,000 and the United Kingdom 145,000.

Shareholders Get New Offer

TORONTO (CP) — Competitive bidding for the shares of Commercial Life Insurance Company of Canada developed Thursday with announcement that a second offer within about a week is being made to shareholders.

The offer was announced by Fry and Company, Toronto investment house, who stated that Montreal Trust Company is offering $50 a share on behalf of "an undisclosed purchaser."

The first offer, made May 2, was $44 a share from Triarch Corporation of Toronto, and Commercial's directors recommended this offer to shareholders for acceptance.

"Over-the-counter" quotations on Commercial shares before the Triarch offer were around $22 a share.

Issued shares of Commercial total 14,848—widely held among about 800 shareholders, many of them in western Canada, especially in Alberta and British Columbia.

The Triarch offer is good until June 15, and the Montreal Trust offer is good until May 25, or up to June 15 at Montreal Trust's discretion.

Lake Tests Planned

Poison May Alter Fishing

Death for Catfish, Chub To Make Way for Trout

A new fish eradicant which the B.C. Game Commission plans to test on a Vancouver Island lake may eventually change the sport fishing pattern in many Island lakes.

"Once the use of this poison has been satisfactorily proven our lake rehabilitation program can be greatly stepped up to include many waters which contain undesirable predatory or competitive species of fish such as catfish, chub and sunfish, David Hurn, regional fisheries biologist for Vancouver Island told The Daily Colonist.

The lakes he said could subsequently be restocked with the desired sporting species such as trout or bass.

TROUT FOR BASS

The program does mean that such lakes as Langford which is now a good bass fishing lake would be converted to a trout lake if it was found to be of duly advantageous and the people of the district asked for it.

On the other hand it could be restocked with bass after coarse fish have been killed off or left as a mixed fish lake.

In the upper Island area where there are no bass fishing lakes it would be possible to stock bass in one or two of the smaller lakes.

But no projects are planned [illegible] has been tested.

[illegible]

SUPPLY READY

Mr. Hurn did not disclose the name of the lake earmarked, nor did say the game commission has a supply available and if it proves successful it could be applied at one-tenth the cost of rotenone now used by the game commission.

The commission plans to experiment in about 10 carefully selected lakes in British Columbia which represent different water chemistries and species of fish.

"We hope to find one water on Vancouver Island to treat experimentally and some lakes are now under consideration," he said. But he emphasized the lakes will be chosen where there are no conflicting interests such as agriculture and people.

"A careful study of the use of this new fish eradicant is necessary as its potential and use has not been determined" he said.

Clergy Delay Sports

NANAIMO — Sunday morning Empire Day celebrations planned for May 20 have been delayed following objection from clergymen belonging to the Nanaimo Ministerial Association.

The celebrations committee was informed this week that concern had been expressed through the Nanaimo Ministerial Association on behalf of some citizens, regarding the Sunday morning events on Newcastle Island.

FUTURE AVOIDANCE

Due to the objection the Empire Day committee has decided to move the morning program planned for 10 a.m. to 2 p.m.

It was also decided by the committee that in future years Sunday will be avoided as a day for official events.

Changes will be made in field races, and also the kayak races due to the cancellation of the Sunday morning program. Ray Kulat informed the committee.

Captain Bert Dyke, [illegible] permission had been received from the government for the Farmer's Landing as the point of embarkation to Newcastle Island for the celebrations.

Low Bidder Gets School Job; Cowichan Board Heeds Ruling

DUNCAN — Contract to build the one-room Sahtlam school has been awarded the Paul A. Barber Construction Company of Vancouver by the school board of District 65 (Cowichan) on direct order of the education department.

On May 3 the board rejected the Barber bid because the firm had been in operation for only six months, and there was a one-year maintenance clause in the specifications for the new school.

Barber company bid $11,680, some $800 lower than Cowichan Housing of Duncan with a bid of $12,456.29. Only other tender was from A. V. Richardson of Duncan for $11,980.

Subsequently the department asked the board to explain why it had not accepted the lowest tender.

With the Barber company ruled out the award was given to the highest tender because Richardson had just previously been given a contract to build the new Glenora school and the board in its contract calls for board wanted both undertake completion of the school by [illegible] days started at the same time. Lincoln Needed To Free Men From Slavery

An editorial in the [illegible] Norfolk [illegible] Abraham Lincoln is needed today.

[illegible]

That's what [illegible] weekly says. The writer of the editorial declares:

"In recent years, man has forfeited every individual right [illegible]

The writer goes on to say that all this is partly the fault of the men. It was they who invented labor saving gadgets for the home and they who offered to help around the house. He adds:

"Gradually women began to assume that all their menfolk wanted of them was for them to look attractive at all times, to get out into society and to be able to play a fair game of bridge."

[illegible]

The writer claims that women aren't content with "equal rights." They evolved a theory that 50-50 means 50 dollars for them and 50 cents for the men.

Offered a choice between two game tricks in the chance that you could win two by a finesse, of course you'd take the sure thing. Or would you?

West opened the three of clubs. Dummy discard [illegible] East won with the king, returned the ace of hearts. Now as you can see declarer can lose a diamond trick, three hearts and two clubs. But since the fourth heart does not set up and the spade finesse is wrong, he's one trick shy of his contract for what he bid.

[illegible] East defenders [illegible] two aces [illegible] for the chance of a sensational finesse. He had dropped the queen of club under the ace on the first trick. It seemed an unnecessary gesture even though he was pretty certain from West's lackadaisical lead that he would have the jack with four small cards. After winning the heart South took the diamond tricks. West discarded a spade and a heart and dummy discarded two spades. Then when [illegible] cashed two more high clubs West showed out on the third round. If he discarded a spade and of dummy's cards would be good after declarer finessed the ten, so West blanked the king of spades.

North's last cards were three clubs and the ten of spades. Declarer led his last club, finessed dummy's ten-spot and cashed the ace. East had to reduce to one spade in order to hold the heart count. South discarded a spade on the eight of hearts and won the ace and jack of spades on the table. East defenders [illegible]

TRIPOGRAPHICAL ERROR

We hasten to correct an unfortunate error in our May 11 advertisement in which a seven-year-old white stucco duplex was offered for $116. The correct price for this property is $16,900 and it would be cheap at half the price. Have you a cottage or small four-room bungalow that you could use as a down payment on this clear title monster? Wonderful value at reduced price of $11,000
PS.—Please do not blame Victoria Press for any goofies that appear in this column. They are the product of Don Bacon, the mad realtor, 4-8054 or 4-4791.

Big Projects Set

BCPC Development Costs $50,000,000

More than $50,000,000 in development work for the B.C. Power Commission is at present in progress or authorized and on the drawing boards, according to the BCPC magazine Progress, much of it on Vancouver Island.

The magazine, published on the completion of the 11th year of service, observes:

"The first decade of the B.C. Power Commission's existence . . . from 1945 to 1955 . . . was one of startling growth from a standing start. In 10 years this utility grew to a $70,000,000 undertaking.

"The 11th year, which was completed April 17, saw the organization girding for even bigger things as the unprecedented economic growth of the province continued unabated," the editorial said.

Decision to build a 100,000-horsepower gas turbine generating station on Vancouver Island was a significant one, the editorial continued.

"Men, machines and materials are forging a bigger and better B.C. built on the essential broad base of an abundant supply of electrical energy," the magazine concluded.

Clerk of Treasury Ends Long Career

Arthur Price cleaned the accumulated possessions of 35 years from his desk in the government treasury department Wednesday and called it a career.

He retired as chief clerk of the department 35 years to the day after he joined it May 9, 1921, and prepared to go off on a summer-long trip to Britain in a week's time.

Mr. Price, of 2453 Currie, will take his wife and youngest son, Michael, 21, to visit their other son, David, 25, a language teacher in London. They'll also visit Mr. Price's home in Ireland.

Mr. Price, son of Dr. A. G. Price, former Victoria medical officer, came from Ireland in 1910 to a job with a Vancouver bank. After less than two years, he came to Victoria and a six-year stint with the B.C. Electric Co. as an accountant and then a spell of accounting with a shipyard firm before joining the government.

"The government treated me well, and I think I've done all right by it," was his only summing up of his service.

Mr. Price was honored at a staff party Tuesday and presented with a garden lounge and two chairs and a picnic basket.

Student Shorts Get Short Shrift

VANCOUVER (BUP)—The burning question at Vancouver's Prince of Wales High school is whether male students may wear shorts during the hot weather or whether their principal can force them to wear long trousers.

On Tuesday two Grade 12 students turned up in shorts. Two hours later they were back in long trousers by order of the principal, E. S. Meek.

Next day about 60 students appeared in shorts. And soon after they were once again clad in longs.

Principal Meek will not discuss the issue but met a delegation of 12 students Friday.

Stoppage 'Illegal'

Union Chiefs Plan Takeover Of Pipe Line Strikers' Local

VANCOUVER (CP)— Top international officials are making plans to take over the Tunnel and Rock workers Union, Local 169, whose members backed by the local executive are refusing to work on the natural gas pipe line from Alberta to Vancouver.

The men say they have stopped work because wages run as much as 40 cents an hour below prevailing rates.

Carl Berg of Edmonton, international representative of the union for western Canada, said here that once a contract has been signed the men must stick to it.

The walkout at Harrison Hot Springs, he said, is an "illegal strike" and 50 rock workers who quit the job are breaking the contract.

Denying that they are striking, the men say the contract signed by the international union and the pipeline association does not bind them.

They cited British Columbia law which says all labor agreements must be approved by the men on the job. They said this condition has not been met.

Art Andres, president of the local, said "we have stayed within the B.C. labor laws and in so doing have disobeyed the international."

Laborers' Union, Local 602, was reported trying to take over the job the tunnel workers refuse to handle. Mr. Berg said the laborers' local had been given jurisdiction on rock work.

International Drive Planned by Socreds

AUCKLAND, N.Z. (CP) — Wilfred Owen, leader of New Zealand's Social Credit Political League, claimed Friday that organizations have been formed to fight elections for Social Credit in Brittain, Australia and the United States.

Owen recently visited Canada to confer with Social Credit leaders, and later visited other countries. He told the league's annual conference here today that in Australia and Britain he had urged formation of political leagues similar to that in New Zealand, and had since heard that such decisions had been made in those two countries and the U.S.

Owen, whose organization secured 11 per cent of the popular vote in the last New Zealand general election, dismissed the recent rejection of Social Credit theory by the royal commission on monetary affairs sitting here. He claimed that the commission had failed to disprove the Social Credit case.

Bomb Was Burning

Devilish Plot To Kill 27 Fails by Minute

COLLINGWOOD, Ont. (CP)—Death lay smouldering in a house where 27 persons slept Thursday morning but luck smiled one minute before tragedy could take a hand.

Police are investigating what fire chief John McAllister called "planned murder." He said a bottle of unidentified explosives with a fuse attached was found taped to a five-gallon can of coal oil in a small shed adjoining the house.

Inside the rooming-house slept 70-year-old Mrs. Margaret Lightheart, her two married sons and a number of boarders. The sons each have five children.

Police chief Lewis Elliott described the bomb as "the work of the devil—only luck saved a score of people from being killed."

"We know whom we are looking for," he said.

The bomb was discovered by Mrs. Lightheart, owner of the 10-room house at 4:30 a. m. She said she wasn't feeling well and got out of bed to make a cup of tea. The shed is connected to the kitchen by a screen door.

"I saw the thing and I didn't know what to do," she said. "Then it came to me that this was a bomb — I just screamed and screamed."

Flames were licking around the coal-oil can, she said, and "The whole works was set to blow us all to kingdom come."

Police Chief Elliott said the fuse in the bottle "had burned down to within a quarter of an inch of the detonator."

"One minute more and there would have been a terrible tragedy," he said.

Mrs. Lightheart's screams aroused her son, Earl Nobes, who beat out the fire and defused the bottle of explosives.

Human Life on Moon Likely in 200 Years

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Human colonies on the moon and nearby planets may be established within 200 years, an internationally-known rocket expert says.

Man will build a bubble on the moon of plastic or glass, and it will give way to still bigger air-conditioned enclosures which will become the first expeditionary headquarters for the exploration of space, says Dr. Kraft Ehricke, former German V-2 rocket propulsion expert. He addressed a joint meeting of the American Rocket Society, the American Society of Mechanical Engineers and the Institute of Aeronautical Sciences here Thursday night.

He did not predict when the moon-bubble would be built. However, G. E. Cooper, research pilot of the national advisory committee on aeronautics and chairman of the Institute of Aeronautical Sciences, said:

"I think that space travel can be accomplished within our generation, assuming there is sufficient demand for such flights."

Ehricke said man's bubble on the moon would have to filter out harmful rays from sunlight as does the blanket of air around the earth.

Stamp Out Combine Of Millers, Says MP

OTTAWA (CP) — A British Columbia CCF member said Friday the federal government should take immediate action to stamp out a combine in Canada's milling industry.

H. W. Herridge, Kootenay West, said in the Commons during debate of the agriculture department's estimates that B.C. farmers pay too high a price to milling companies for feed grains.

There was too great a spread between the price paid by the B.C. farmer and that received by the Prairie farmer from the wheat board. This was caused because the B.C. farmer had to buy from milling companies.

A farmer in B.C. had to pay $90 a ton for No. 3 feed wheat. He wondered what the Prairie farmer received when he sold the wheat.

Mr. Herridge suggested that the costs of B.C. farmers could be reduced if they could buy feed grain direct from Prairie farmers through the wheat board. It was unnecessary to place an extra financial burden on farmers by requiring them to buy feed from milling companies.

He said the high cost of feed adds to costs of farm production in his province. High production costs were the main reason B. C. farmers "are in a less favorable position than farmers in the rest of Canada."
